The Hon. Allen W. Dulles,

25 July 1960

Macaulay Series
60-577Director Central Intelligence Agency
Washington, D.C.

Dear Hon. Dulles: May I introduce myself briefly. For thirty years I served as Head Department History, State College, West Chester, Pa., and retired recently. For sometime I have been adding to my historical library certain papers which constitute primary source material for the future. The account, enclosed which appeared in Sunday New York Times, 7/24/60, which gives a statement of your unusual plan in briefing Senator Kennedy is very important. I am enclosing part of statement and I am asking the favor that you will please autograph the enclosed clipping, as I have all such articles autographed in order to authenticate the historical value for the future. I have article preserved, each one, in a separate folder. Thank you for your kindness, as you have good health to carry on this important life service.

Cordially,

Charles W. Heather

KENNEDY IS GIVEN A SECRET BRIEFING BY DULLES OF C.I.A.

World Situation Discussed
for 2½ Hours—Emphasis
Put on Cuba and Africa

By JOSEPH A. LOFTUS

Special to The New York Times.

HYANNIS PORT, July 23—

Senator John F. Kennedy was briefed on the international situation today by Allen W. Dulles, director of the Central Intelligence Agency.

For two and a quarter hours the two men talked at the Senator's summer home, particularly about Cuba and the Congo and other African problems.

The Senator's position as Democratic nominee for President entitled him to this tour of Mr. Dulles' carefully concealed world.

The same privilege will be extended to Senator Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, as nominee for Vice President.

Such secret information as was added to the Senator's fund of knowledge about world affairs will remain secret. But it provides guidance for his campaign utterances dealing with foreign policy and defense, and it puts him on the same footing as the Administration's candidate, presumably Vice President Nixon, in the campaign.

MEMORANDUM FOR: Mr. Dulles:

Stan Grogan recommends that you autograph the newspaper clipping.
